BIG SPORTS MAY BE ARRANGED.

A Great Carnival On New Lines is Now Being Discussed.

RADICALLY DIFFERENT CARNIVALS

It is the general opinion among all interested in the automobile and other sports that arrangements should be gotten under way immediately for big races and other sports next winter.

Those directly interested have suggested calling a meeting for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the clubhouse, at which W. J. Morgan and one or two others will be present. Today Mr. Morgan said that he would invite S. A. Miles, the General Manager of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, to address the meeting and he has consented to do so. As Mr. Miles is the manager of the largest automobile show given in the world annually at Chicago, and as he is very close to the manufacturers and has their confidence his opinions will be worth getting.

As suggested a few days ago, it is Mr. Morgan's opinion that two separate carnivals of a radically different nature should be given next winter. The first to be given either the last week in January or early in February and that to be devoted exclusively to automobile races with two special days for a big motorcycle race, as the Federation of American Motorcyclists have informed Mr. Morgan that they would like to have an annual winter meet on Daytona Beach if he would consent to arrange it, and they desire to have their meet exclusively for motorcycles and record breaking. Oscar Hedstrom, one of the heads of the big Indian Motorcycle Works, of Springfield, Mass., declared yesterday that there would be over fifty entries of big and little machines for the races and East Ormond, President of the F. A. M., assured Daytona people before he left for New York that such a meet would be a great success. The rest of the week would be devoted to automobile races and gulfwishing sports, which was introduced at Long Branch at one of Morgan's meets for the first time in this country in 1904. Mr. Morgan is not discouraged over the aeroplane failure and believes next year he will be able to get some big flyers down here.

The proposition for an International Athletic Carnival for the last week in March, in which the great big Collegiate athletes and others will probably take part in all branches of athletics, would furnish another week of great sport.

Uncle Sam's Receptions.

There will be no more forenoon visiting at Fruit Park. Keeper Lloyd has given out the announcement that hereafter visitors will be received only in the afternoon. It is the custom throughout Uncle Sam's domain to replenish the big lamp, clean up, polish reflectors, lens, etc., in the morning, and there is always a rush to get through before visitors appear upon the scene.

VOTE HEAVY IN PIANO CONTEST NOW

It Is Evident That Lots Of Bills Are Being Paid These Days.

KINGSTON SCHOOL IN LIMELIGHT.

Perhaps some of the merchants who in the early season were wondering where their part of the profits in the piano contest came in are wise to the situation by this time. A Daily News representative met a prominent merchant Saturday who was smiling broadly. He had just collected some bills of large denominations and had punched a great big batch of coupons for the Kingston school, all of them 1000's.

Kingston school led everything and if she continues this spurt all the finish will go by the judge's stand and carry off the piano before her competitors get in hearing of the music. One bun dred and twenty-two thousand votes was "going some" and meant over $1200 paid in.

The High School children are always in the count. Every batch of votes was sprinkled throughout with "Daytona H. S." scores of them being the coupons good for five votes only. Usually the writing on these coupons indicates the work of the teacher or father or mother—it isn't the chirography of children. It shows the wide interest in the contest. It is a safe bet that the boys and girls hold the winning cards in the piano contest.

It looks now as if the Halifax Rifles will finish second. They maintain a pretty strong lead over the Elks and since the last count made a better showing toward a whirlwind finish.

The Rifles cracked up 50,000 pennies while the B. P. O. Elks stopped with 9,500.

There was quite a batch of coupons issued by two business places properly stamped and punched but not voted. This batch if voted would have scattered changed today's results. There were a few property issued and signed but no amount punched and these coupons went into the waste basket.

There will be observed but one change in the order of standing. Kingston School displaces Seabreeze High School and moves up close to Wilmans Opera House.

There were several votes marked "Parsonage" but as there are two parsonages in the running they could not be counted.

Pay your bills now and get in on the last count. Remember that a renewal of your subscription to the Gazette-News counts 500 votes.

CONTEST ENDS AT MIDNIGHT.

The Piano Contest is not closed till midnight, Wednesday, and the count will then be taken and the announcement will be made in Saturday's issue of the Gazette-News.

Bill paying is now epidemic, and you need not be surprised to see some way-down-the-list candidate make a whirlwind finish.

Several renewals and new subscriptions are coming in to the Daily News, and they count 500 votes. Drop in and let the weekly follow you to your Northern home this summer. Much of interest will transpire this summer, and if you want to keep in touch with Florida's greatest city you can do so by dropping $1.50 into the Gazette-News' strong box.

NEW LEADERS FOR ELK HERD.

The strenuosity of the week just passed didn't eclipse in local interest certain Elk events. This enthusiastic body held a most interesting session Friday night and conducted three candidates through winding Elk paths and wound up on the forage grounds, where the entire bunch regaled themselves on appetizing things usually sought by this herd.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Exalted Ruler—J. D. C. Morris.
Esteemed Leading Knight—C. C. Bohannon.
Esteemed Loyal Knight—F. J. Niver.
Esteemed Lecturing Knight—W. C. Smith.
Secretary—George F. Crouch.
Treasurer—F. N. Conrad.
Tiler—N. H. Clark.
Inner Guard—L. H. Rowe.
Trustee—For three years, F. M. Rowe; for two years, F. Dodgering; for one year, Chris Gongiberty.
Delegate to Grand Lodge—J. D. C. Morris.
Alternate—T. E. Fitzgerald.

Advice to Smokers.

Here are a number of don'ts for smokers, some of which no doubt will surprise a good many men: Don't smoke directly after a meal. There is the most irresistible craving to smoke, but it is wiser to wait a half hour or an hour. Don't smoke out of doors in a high wind or in cold, frosty weather. In the former case it is dangerous, and in the latter it cracks the lips and prevents proper breathing. Don't smoke with the cigar or pipe held at the corner of the mouth. This excites the secretion of more saliva than when the cigar or pipe is held straight in front. And, above all, don't get in the bad habit of expectorating frequently when smoking. It is quite unnecessary and merely a bad habit and harmful.—N. Y. Press.

TO LIVE OAK AND RETURN

The wind whistled through the rigging of the goodship "Sweetheart" yesterday as she lifted anchor for her regular Sunday run down the Halifax.

Commodore Burgoyne carried a splendid party yesterday and besides an unusual fund of anecdotes that were sprung, various big enterprises were all but launched and speed tournaments and spotting carnivals for the delectation of next season's visitors were proposed which will key the general public up to a high pitch of interest. They will be given out in due process of time.

Louie Adler pointed out the objects worth seeing and explained the origin of the name "Half Dollar Island," but it's too long a story for the Daily News columns. This recital of Adler's of course reminded "Doc" Maxwell of one he told and this reminded somebody else of another, and so the stories ran.

There was the customary midday lunch which is always eaten with a relish washed down with the best and following with Havanas and more anecdotes.

In Sunday's party were David Brien Brown, Ralph De Palma, "Senator" W. J. Morgan, Joseph Porro, Matteo Imbahia, Willard H. Newton, "Doc" E. Maxwell, S. A. Miles, G. A. Klock, M. D., A. Mc? Porter, E. W. Greene, W. H. Peters, Geo. W. Rymyre, Adam Schantz, S. H. Gove, Louis Adler, Geo. F. Crouch and Commodore Burgoyne.

CODRINGTON FOR BRIDGE.

Editor Chris O. Codrington, of the DeLand News, thinks the Daytona district should have an up-to-date concrete bridge which would supplant the unsightly rattle-trap which Daytona has outgrown. These piling bridges served their day and generation, but they are now out of date and out of harmony with the spirit and progress of the day.

Here is what the DeLand editor says:

"Representative James E. Alexander is publishing in the News a notice of proposed local legislation, as required by law. The proposed legislation contemplates the building of a free concrete bridge across the Halifax, at Daytona. If the people of Daytona, Seabreeze, Daytona Beach and adjacent towns get together on this proposition, there is no reason why it should not be accomplished. Years ago we had toll roads; now they are almost unknown in the United States. There is no reason why we should not have free bridges as well as free roads. The State might build the bridge and charge toll over it until the cost is repaid, or authorize the towns to issue bonds for this purpose."

They Meant Business.

A Chicago stage manager was telling of amusing incidents of blunders and errors caused by stage fright. In a romantic play recently revived one of the minor characters, a deformed hero forward at the end of the recital of a love romance and comments as follows:

"Hope filled their youth and whetted their love; they plighted their troth."

But at one of the performances the part who played the deformed was absent without notice. At the last moment the manager gave the lines to a shepherdess, who had never had lines to speak before and who was excessively nervous when her cue came. The following is the astonished audience heard:

"Hope filled they trough and blighted their hoe; they wheeled their troth."

The Hoarglass.

Instead of being obsolete and slightly an interesting relic, the hourglass in various forms is a twentieth century necessity. A machinist authority points out that for such purposes as timing hardening and tempering tools in twist drill manufacture, where seconds or minutes must be gauged accurately, nothing serves like the hourglass with the right amount of sand. Accuracy to fractions of a second can be had much more easily than by watching the hands of a watch.

Cheered Him Up.

Mrs H. M. Deane, aged 71 years, of Xenia, Ohio, died Saturday afternoon on South Beach street and the remains were shipped on Sunday afternoon to Xenia, for interment, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Julia E. McGarvey.

James Calvin Reber, of Dayton, Ohio, died at Ormond, Saturday, aged 68 years. The remains were shipped Sunday to his Dayton home for interment, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Maud Reber.

Judge Benjamin F. Ibach, of Auburn, N. Y., died Sunday evening, aged 75 years, at his winter home on Bay street. The Judge and Mrs. Ibach have been coming to Daytona for the winter season for a number of years, but this winter he has been in very poor health, resulting finally in his death. Judge Ibach was widely known as untiremb supporter of the temperance cause. His son has been notified of his demise and will probably reach Daytona Wednesday. Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church Thursday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. D. H. Rutter officiating, and the remains will be sent north for interment.

Rev. E. W. Rush died this morning at his home West of Port Orange. The funeral services will be held at the M. E. church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. D. Rutter, of this city, officiating by the request of Mr. Rush. The interment will be made at the Port Orange cemetery and the Masonic Lodge of this city will be in charge of the ceremonies.

All members of Halifax Lodge and visiting members of the fraternity are requested to meet at the Masonic Hall, on Orange avenue, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, where conveyances will be in waiting to take them to Port Orange.

Mr. Rush has numerous friends in this city and vicinity, having visited here frequently with his son, J. E. Rush, and also at Holly Hill with his daughter, Mrs. M. F. Blitch, and family. He leaves a wife and several sons and daughters and a number of grandchildren to mourn his demise. All members of the family have been notified and will probably be present.

BURGLARS ARE LOOTING RESIDENCES.

Everybody Warned To Keep Their Valuables Under Lock and Key.

F. N. CONRAD LOSES WATCH.

Sneak thieves are operating all over the city, and it behooves everybody to exercise due care or victims of these nocturnal prowlers will multiply.

Saturday night F.N. Conrad's residence, on Orange avenue, was entered and a gold watch and about $20 in money were secured. The watch was a beautiful one, a gift of his brother, J. B. Conrad, and for this reason was prized beyond its intrinsic worth.

The thief, or thieves, gained access to the residence by a rear window carried Mr. Conrad's clothing out on the the rear porch, went through them and then threw them back in the room, leaving the window up.

When Mr Conrad discovered on arising that his clothes were missing his first thought was for the bank keys, but upon finding his clothing the keys, his pocketbook containing tax receipts, and other papers were left behind.

The pocketbook was emptied to the last penny, for Mr. Conrad remembers that he had three pennies and three or four nickles along with some bills, all amounting to $20 or more.

The thief, or thieves, made the raid after midnight as Mr. Conrad was up till nearly 12 o'clock.

A visit was also made to C. C. Loser, who occupies one of the Brown cottages on Ridgewood avenue, but they got only $2.00 here, thanks to a screaky door.

They evidently started in to loot the house, but on opening a door to a servant's room an unearthly screak startled them, and aroused the sleepers, so they fled.

These characters are short and are trying to make the price of a trip North, so keep on your guard or you, too, will get fleeced.

MISS FLORA WILSON IN STUNNING BALL GOWN.

Miss Wilson, daughter of the secretary of agriculture, wore one of the smartest gowns seen at the inaugural ball. It is a Paris creation of pale blue velvet embroidered with seed pearls and ornamented with turquoises and spangles of gold. Miss Wilson is of queenly proportions and attracted quite as much attention at the ball as any of the many noted beauties who were there. She recently returned from Paris and has attended many receptions and luncheons at the homes of fashionable people in New York this season.

BIG SPORTS MAY BE ARRANGED.

A Great Carnival On New Lines Is Now Being Discussed.

RADICALLY DIFFERENT CARNIVALS

It is the general opinion among all interested in the automobile and other sports that arrangements should be gotten under way immediately for big races and other sports next winter.

Those directly interested have suggested calling a meeting for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the clubhouse, at which W. J. Morgan and one or two others will be present. Today Mr. Morgan said that he would invite S. A. Miles, the General Manager of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, to address the meeting and he has consented to do so. As Mr. Miles is the manager of the largest automobile show given in the world annually at Chicago, and as he is very close to the manufacturers and has their confidence his opinions will be worth getting.

As suggested a few days ago, it is Mr. Morgan's opinion that two separate tournaments of a radically different nature should be given next winter. The first to be given either the last week in January or early in February and that to be devoted exclusively to automobile races with two special days for a big motorcycle heat, as the Federation of American Motorcyclists have informed Mr. Morgan that they would like to have an annual winter meet on Daytona Beach if he would consent to arrange it, and they desire to have their meet exclusively for motorcycles and record breaking. Oscar Hedstrom, one of the heads of the big Indian Motorcycle Works, of Springfield, Mass., declared yesterday that there would be over fifty entries of big and little machines for the races, and Earl Ovington, President of the F. A. M., assured Daytona people before he left for New York that such a meet woule be a great success. The rest of the week would be devoted to automobile races and guimkahina sports, which was introduced at Long Branch at one of Morgan's meets for the first time in this country in 1904. Mr. Morgan is not discouraged over the aeroplane failure and believes next year he will be able to get some big flyers down here.

The proposition for an International Athletic Carnival for the last week in March, in which the great big Collegiate athletics and others will probably take part in all branches of athletics, would furnish another week of great sport.

Uncle Sam's Receptions.

There will be no more forenoon visiting at Ponce Park. VOTE HEAVY IN PIANO CONTEST NOW

It Is Evident That Lots Of Bills Are Being Paid These Days.

KINGSTON SCHOOL IN LIMELIGHT.

Perhaps some of the merchants who in the early season were wondering where their part of the profits in the piano contest came in are wise to the situation by this time. A Daily News representative met a prominent merchant Saturday who was smiling broadly. He had just collected some bills of large denominations and had punched a great big batch of coupons for the Kingston school, all of them 1000's.

Kingston school led everything and if she continues this spurt till the finish will go by the judge's stand and carry off the piano before her competitors get in hearing of the music. One hundred and twenty-two thousand votes was "going some" and meant over $1200 paid in.

The High School children are always in the count. Every batch of votes was springled throughout with "Daytona H. S.," scores of them being the coupons good for five votes only. Usually the writing on these coupons indicates the work of the teacher or father or mother—it isn't the chirography of children. It shows the wide interest in the contest. It is a safe bet that the boys and girls hold the winning cards in the piano contest.

It looks now as if the Halifax Rifles will finish second. They maintain a pretty strong lead over the Elks and since the last count made a better showing toward a whirlwind finish. The Rifles chalked up 56,000 pennies while the B. P. O. E's., stopped with 9,500

There was quite a batch of coupons issued by two business places properly stamped and punched but not voted. This batch if voted would have materially changed today's results. There were a few properly issued and signed but no amount punched and these coupons went into the waste basket.

There will be observed but one change in the order of standing. Kingston School displaces Seabreeze High School and noses up close to Wilmans Opera House.

There were several votes marked "Parsonage" but as there are two parsonages in the running they could not be counted.

Pay your bills now and get in on the last count. Remember that a renewal of your subscription to the Gazette-News counts 500 votes.

They Meant Business.

A Chicago stage manager was telling of amusing incidents of blunders and errors caused by stage fright. In a romantic play recently revived one of the minor characters, a dairymaid, comes forward at the end of the recital of a love romance and comments as follows:

"Hope filled their youth and whetted their love; they plighted their troth!"

But at one of the performances the girl who played the dairymaid was absent without notice. At the last moment the manager gave the lines to a shepherdess, who had never had lines to speak before and who was excessively nervous when her cue came. This is what the astonished audience heard:

"Hope filled their trough and blighted their love; they whetted their tooth!"

The Hourglass.

Instead of being obsolete and simply an interesting relic, the hourglass in various forms is a twentieth century necessity. A machinist authority points out that for such purposes as timing hardening and tempering heats in twist drill manufacture, where seconds or minutes must be gauged accurately, nothing serves like the hourglass with the right amount of sand. Accuracy to fractions of a second can be had much more easily than by watching the hands of a watch.

Cheered Him Up.

The prisoner was downcast.

"Cheer up," said his lawyer. "I've got a jury of twelve men too stupid to find out that you're guilty."

Naturally the client took a more hopeful view.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CITIZENS NOW ON THE OTHER SIDE.

Prominent People Who Have Crossed The Bar For The Other Shore.

THE FACES YOUR WILL MISS.

Mrs H. M. Deane, aged 71 years, of Xenia, Ohio, died Saturday afternoon on South Beach street and the remains were shipped on Sunday afternoon to Xenia, for interment, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Julia E. McGervey.

James Calvin Reber, of Dayton, Ohio, died at Ormond, Saturday, aged 63 years. The remains were shipped Sunday to his Dayton home for interment, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Maud Reber.

Judge Benjamin F. Ibach, of Auburn, N. Y., died Sunday evening, aged 75 years, at his winter home on Bay street. The Judge and Mrs. Ibach have been coming to Daytona for the winter season for a number of years, but this winter he has been in very poor health, resulting finally in his death. Judge Ibach was widely known as a staunch supporter of the temperance cause. His son has been notified of his demise and will probably reach Daytona Wednesday. Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church Thursday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. D. H. Rutter officiating, and the remains will be sent north for interment.

Rev. E. W. Rush died this morning at his home West of Port Orange. The funeral services will be held at the M. E church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. D. Rutter, of this city, officiating by the request of Mr. Rush. The interment will be made at the Port Orange cemetery and the Masonic Lodge of this city will be in charge of the ceremonies.

All members of Halifax Lodge and visiting members of the fraternity are requested to meet at the Masonic Hall, on Orange avenue, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, where conveyances will be in waiting to take them to Port Orange.

Mr. Rush has numerous friends in this city and vicinity, having visited here frequently with his son. J. E. Rush, and also at Holly Hill with his daughter, Mrs. M. F. Blitch, and family. He leaves a wife and several sons and daughters and a number of grandchildren to mourn his demise. All members of the family have been notified and will probably be present.

BURGLARS ARE LOOTING RESIDENCES.

Everybody Warned To Keep Their Valuables Under Lock and Key.

F. N. CONRAD LOSES WATCH.

Sneak thieves are operating all over the city, and it behooves everybody to exercise due care or victims of these nocturnal prowlers will multiply.

Saturday night F.N. Conrad's residence, on Orange avenue, was entered and a gold watch and about $20 in money were secured. The watch was a beautiful one, a gift of his brother, J B. Conrad, and for this reason was prized beyond its intrinsic worth.

The thief, or thieves, gained access to the residence by a rear window carried Mr. Conrad's clothing out on the the rear porch, went through them and then threw them back in the room, leaving the window up.

When Mr Conrad discovered on arising that his clothes were missing his first thought was for the bank keys, but upon finding his clothing the keys, his pocketbook containing tax receipts, and other papers were left behind.

The pocketbook was emptied to the last penny, for Mr. Conrad remembers that he had three pennies and three or four nickles along with some bills, all amounting to $20 or more.

The thief, or thieves, made the raid after midnight as Mr. Conrad was up till nearly 12 o'clock.

A visit was also made to C. C. Loser, who occupies one of the Brown cottages on Ridgewood avenue, but they got only $2.00 here, thanks to a screaky door.

They evidently started in to loot the house, but on opening a door to a servant's room an unearthly screak startled them, and aroused the sleepers, so that they fled.

These characters are short and are trying to make the price of a trip North, so keep on your guard or you, too, will get fleeced.

MISS FLORA WILSON IN STUNNING BALL GOWN.

Miss Wilson, daughter of the secretary of agriculture, wore one of the smartest gowns seen at the inaugural ball. It is a Paris creation of pale blue velvet embroidered with seed pearls and ornamented with turquoises and spangles of gold. Miss Wilson is of queenly proportions and attracted quite as much attention at the ball as any of the many noted beauties who were there. She recently returned from Paris and has attended many receptions and luncheons at the homes of fashionable people in New York this season.

Seabreeze News

SEABREEZE, March 20.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Carpell, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and son, Chas. Carpell, and wife, of Toronto, Canada, and Miss Smith, of Ypsilanti, Mich., who have spent the season here, left today for their respective homes. This is their second winter at Seabreeze. Mr. Carpell, Sr., first came here in very feeble health and made a wonderfully rapid recovery. They are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Waterous, of Halifax, Canada, and it was through their influence that they were first induced to come to Seabreeze.

Mr. Gardner is having his Tree Ice North of Glenview boulevard cleared up.

Dr. Bigelow and J. Ralph Wilkinson made the best trip to their Tomoka farms on Saturday and put in a busy day doing up the spring chores.

W. W. Wood, a skilled cabinet maker, has been at work for some time refinishing some fine desks belonging to Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Potter, one of especial worth having belonged to Mrs. Potter's father. He will also build some fine sideboards for the new Clarendon.

Miss Mary Lee Keen, after a session there, is closely regulating health.

Thos. Ramsbotham and wife, who have been occupying E. T. Butler's cottage, on Fleetwood avenue, leave this week for their home at Evansville, Ind.

Mrs. J. B. Minnis one of the pleasant family at Miss Russell's, left this morning for her home at Knoxville, Tenn., where she was preceded by Col. Minnis about ten days ago. It is quite likely that Mr. Minnis will become a property owner at Seabreeze before another season opens.

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, March 20.—J. J. Haney, a former resident of Seabreeze, is here from Atlanta, Ga., on a visit with friends. Mr. Haney says good prices for cotton has brought prosperity to the farmers of the "cracker State."

Miss Thornburg and charming daughter, Miss Thornburg, who have spent some time at Surf Crest, left the first of the week for Winter Park to visit friends, enroute to St. Augustine and Kenansville, Texas, their home town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes, Miss Mullett and Mrs. Agnes Charles had a pleasant boat trip to Mr. Zimmerman's grove Saturday in Mr. Ayers' good traveler.

By invitation, Dr. S. Holmes will address the Epworth League Sunday evening on the subject of Missions.

Mrs. Smith-Young and nephew left Saturday for Atlanta, where they will be joined by Mr. Young, and continue their journey to Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant and friend, Miss Brewer, who have occupied apartments in the Smith block, Seabreeze avenue, left the latter part of last week for St. Augustine, and points north to Illinois. Mr. Bryant resided H. G. Wilson in the real estate business last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer, pleasant summers in the Wilson cottage, on Seabreeze avenue, left last week for their Northern home. Mr. Mortimer purchased a lot on Palmetto avenue last winter, and it is understood that he will build before another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Hambrick, who are spending the winter on Seabreeze avenue, made up a charter party in the form of a Wake for the Inlet, Saturday, and had a fine outing.

The School Board Trustees met in regular session Friday night of last week.

Seabreeze News

SEABREEZE, March 29.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Coryell, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and son, Chas. Coryell, and wife, of Toronto, Canada, and Miss Smith, of Ypsilanti, Mich., who have spent the season here, left today for their respective homes. This is their second winter at Seabreeze. Mr. Coryell, Sr., first came here in very feeble health and made a wonderfully rapid recoverd. They are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Waterson, of Halifax, Avenue, and it was through their influence that they were first induced to come to Seabreeze.

Mr. Gardiner is having his river lot North of Glenview boulevard cleaned up.

Dr. Bigelow and J. Ralph Wilcox made the boat trip to their Tomoka farms on Saturday and put in a busy day doing up the spring chores.

W. W. Wood, a skilled cabinet maker, has been at work for some time rebuilding some fine desks belonging to Dr. and Mrs. E L Potter, one of especial worth having belonged to Mrs. Potter's father. He will also build some fine sideboards for the new Clarendon.

Miss Mary Lou Eaves, after a serious illness, is slowly regaining health.

Theo. Rauschenbaum and wife, who have been occupying R. T. Butler's cottage, on Pinewood avenue, leave this week for their home at Evansville, Ind.

Mrs. J B. Minnis one of the pleasant family at Miss Russell's, left this morning for her home at Knoxville, Tenn., where she was preceded by Col. Minnis about ten days ago. It is quite likely that Mr. Minnis will become a property owner at Seabreeze before another season opens.

DAYTONA BEACH, March 29.—J. J. Haney, a former resident of Seabreeze, is here from Atlanta, Ga., on a visit with friends. Mr. Haney says good prices for cotton has brought prosperity to the farmers of the "cracker State."

Mrs. Thornburg and charming daughter, Miss Thornburg, who have spent some time at Surf Crest, left the first of the week for Winter Park to visit friends, enroute to St. Augustine and Knoxville, Tenn., their home town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ayers, Mr and Mrs. W. Holmes, Miss Mullett and Mrs. Agnes Charfev had a pleasant boat trip to Mr. Zimmerman's grove Saturday in Mr. Avers' good traveler.

By invitation, W. S. Holmes will address the Epworth League Sunday evening on the subject of Missions.

Mrs. Smith-Young and nephew left Saturday for Atlanta, where they will be joined by Mr. Young, and continue their journey to Michigan.

Mr. and M. Sweet and friend, Miss Brewer, who have occupied apartments in the Smith block, Seabreeze avenue, left the latter part of last week for St. Augustine, and points north to Illinois. Mr. Sweet assisted H. G. Wilson in the real estate business last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer, pleasant roomers in the Willson cottage, on Seabreeze avenue, left last week for their Northern home. Mr. Mortimer purchased a lot on Palmetto avenue last winter, and it is understood that he will build before another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Hambrick, who are spending the winter on Seabreeze avenue, made up a charter party in the "Wide-a-Wake" for the Inlet, Saturday, and had a fine outing.

The School Board Trustees met in regular session Friday night of last week.

OLD SCHOOL DOCTORS

Ignorance of Physicians of the Eighteenth Century.

TORTURE FOR THE PATIENTS.

Every Ailment Beyond Diagnosis Was Classed as a Fever, and Pills, Plasters, Burning and Bleeding Were the Regulation Remedies.

The proverb "The remedy is worse than the disease" must have been coined in the eighteenth century, when physicians treated their patients with a violence that bordered on insanity and battery. It was held that sickness was some kind of a disease that must be overcome by pills, plasters, bleeding and burning, and if the patient incidentally got the full effects of the latters and died, so much the worse for him. Air and water were considered the most dangerous things for a sick person to have, and his unguided account for them was interpreted as a sign that he should have still less. The windows were shut and the curtains of the four poster tightly drawn around the recumbent unfortunate gasping for breath. If he heaved with the blankets were piled on him. A desire for water meant that he could have none, while a lack of appetite proved that he ought to be stuffed with food. A bath was positively unthinkable.

The deadly results of breathing "night air" were accentuated by medical writers, says S. G. Valkeryie in the Cornhill Magazine. All air was bad, but the night quality often proved fatal to "young ladies of beauty, fortune and great merit" and to "young gentlemen of parts and breeding." Even bed clothes recommended that a bedchamber should be ventilated—in the daytime. Another dared to suggest that consumption might benefit from "keeping in a pure atmosphere." The Sir Athelstane was "hands often, but seldom, head never," but a physician far in advance of his age suggested that invalids might bathe in cold water once a week and take extraordinary circumstances like a warm bath once a month.

Sweating and drinking caused many of the diseases of the upper classes. Monsieurjules said that dinner should use half of the Parisians and spare the other half. Everywhere it was the custom to pile the table with roast beef, mutton, capons, boiled hams, game, venison, puddings and pastries. A fearful repast of twelve ghastly courses was brought on all together, so that the diners knew what they shoveled of them. A large breakfast of small beer and meats preceded the terrific midday meal, when people took a Gargantuan gorge for three hours and spent two more in Falstaffian nodosities. After this the gentlemen left the women for a dish of tea in the drawing room, and it was not long before the whole party of human mincemeats returned to the dining room for a supper on the cold remnants of the dinner. Amid this orgy of gluttony Walpole and Voltaire were distinguished for an abstinence that prolonged their lives.

Heavy drinking was universal and rarely reprimanded by medical men, as by Dr. Trotchin. One Dr. Cheyne advised women not to take a whole bottle a day. Another authority wrote a popular treatise in which the best means of attaining longevity was stated to be a bottle of wine at dinner and three glasses after. Those who followed such advice were in danger of being dubbed temperance cranks. A story is told of the "talented and convivial Dr. Garth, who was tipping bumpers at the Kit Kat club when reminded that his patients needed attention. "Tis no matter," said Garth, already half seas over, "if I see them or not. Nine have such bad constitutions that all the doctors in the world can't save them, and the other six have such good that all the doctors in the world can't kill them."

A physician named Brown became the pet of fashionable women by always prescribing "cleansing remedies" in glass of wine in the forenoon from time to time," several glasses of port or punch after dinner till some satisfying effect is perceived from them." Together with inordinate quantities of liquor and food, Dr. Brown recommended to his male patients the company of "delightful young women." One of the natural consequences of such an agreeable regimen was the gout, for which eighteenth century high livers took sea of liquid medicines, mountains of pills and bins of powders.

Any disease beyond diagnosis was put down as "a fever." Whether typhus or typhoid, scarlet or gastric, contagious or visionary infectious, anything which caused a rise in temperature was sufficient described by the term fever. Smallpox, scurvy, spotted and jail fever were muddles distinctive of the age. Disinfection and first aid to natures were never dreamed of, while the patient was dosed with horrific drafts and nauseating compounds ride drafts and nauseating compounds ride drafts and nauseating compounds ride drafts and bled on every possible occasion. Louis XIV. was bled nine times for scarlet fever. Bleeding killed the Duchess of Tremouille and her babe. Bleeding killed the Duke of Bedford's house in 1765 the doctors remedied the outrage by bleeding the duchess next morning. A young man who fell against a marble table and cut his head open was treated by having a few pints of extra blood drawn from his veins by an expert surgeon. Blistering was extensively used to bloodletting. A fashionable remedy for coughing. A mesh of raw snails, shells and all, taken from a spoon.

Qualified.

Caller—Is the lady of the house in? Waitress (who has been given necked)—She's in, but she's no lady!—Life.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphalt-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls that ply in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid an liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these oaks hang festoons great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfin draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of those charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish display of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park.

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of plan reposts more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Sunsets, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or cold he may be to many things, the mere mention of "sunsets and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "quarter" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard rose of variegated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall canna.

The birds do the rest, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are groves of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

Origin of the Argand Lamp and the Telescope.

Some of our most useful mechanical appliances owe their existence to the ingenuity of children in fashioning their playthings. Argand, who invented a lamp with a wick tired into a hollow cylinder, was one day busily at his workroom. Sitting before the burning lamp his little brother was amusing himself by placing a bottomless oil flask over different articles, holding it for a few seconds upon the flame of the lamp, which instantly shut up the long circular rack of the flask with increased brilliancy. Argand did not allow such suggestive occurrence to escape him. The idea of the lamp chimney almost immediately came into his head, and in a short time his invention was perfected.

The telescope owes its origin to a similar occurrence. The children of a Dutch spectacle maker happened to be playing one day with some of their father's glasses in front of the shop door. Placing two of the glasses together, they peeped through them and were exceedingly astonished to see the weathercock of the neighboring steeple brought within a short distance of their eyes. They were naturally puzzled and called their father to see the strange sight. When the spectacle maker looked through the glasses in vain he soon ascertained that the children had been. He went indoors and through the matter over, and then the idea occurred to him that he might construct a curious new toy which would give people a good deal of amusement. Not long after the telescope was an accomplished fact.

OLD SCHOOL DOCTORS

Ignorance of Physicians of the Eighteenth Century.

TORTURE FOR THE PATIENTS.

Every Ailment Beyond Diagnosis Was Classed as a Fever, and Pills, Plasters, Burning and Bleeding Were the Regulation Remedies.

The proverb "The remedy is worse than the disease" must have been coined in the eighteenth century, when physicians treated their patients with a violence that bordered on assault and battery. It was held that sickness was some kind of a demon that must be overcome by pills, plasters, bleeding and burning, and if the patient incidentally got the full effects of the torture and died, so much the worse for him. Air and water were considered the most dangerous things for a sick person to have, and his misguided demand for them was interpreted as a sign that he should have still less. The windows were shut and the curtains of the four poster tightly drawn around the recumbent unfortunate gasping for breath. If he burned with fever the blankets were piled on him. A desire for water meant that he could have none, while a lack of appetite proved that he ought to be stuffed with food. A bath was positively unthinkable.

The deadly results of breathing "night air" were accentuated by medical writers, says S. G. Tallentyre in the Cornhill Magazine. All air was bad, but the night quality often proved fatal to "young ladies of beauty, fortune and great merit" and to "young gentlemen of parts and breeding." One bold medico recommended that a bedchamber should be ventilated—in the daytime. Another dared to suggest that consumptives might benefit from sleeping in a pure atmosphere. The rule for ablutions was "hands often, face seldom, head never," but a physician far in advance of his age surprised that invalids might bathe their feet in warm water once a week and under extraordinary circumstances take a warm bath once a month.

Overeating and drinking caused many of the diseases of the upper classes. Montesquieu said that dinner killed one half of the Parisians and supper the other half. Everywhere it was the custom to pile the table with roast beef, mutton, capons, boars' heads, pasties, creams, stuffings and confectionery. A fearful repast of twelve indigestible courses was brought on all together, so that the diners knew what was expected of them. A large breakfast of small beer and meats preceded the gigantic midday meal, when people indulged a Gargantuan gorge for three hours and spent two more in Falstaffian potations. After this the gentlemen joined the women for a dish of tea in the drawing room, and it was not long before the whole party of human anacondas returned to the dining room for a supper on the cold remnants of the dinner. Amid this orgy of gluttony Walpole and Voltaire were distinguished for an abstinence that prolonged their lives.

Heavy drinking was universal and rarely reprimanded by medical men, as by Dr. Tronchin. One Dr. Cheyne advised women not to take a whole bottle a day. Another authority wrote a popular treatise in which the best means of attaining longevity was stated to be a bottle of wine at dinner and three glasses after. Those who followed such advice were in danger of being dubbed temperance cranks. A story is told of the celebrated and convivial Dr. Garth, who was tipping bumpers at the Kit-Kat club when reminded that his patients needed attention. "'Tis no matter," said Garth, already half seas over, "if I see them or not. Nine have such bad constitutions that all the doctors in the world can't save them, and the other six have such good that all the doctors in the world can't kill them."

A physician named Brown became the pet of fashionable women by always prescribing pleasant remedies. "a glass of wine in the forenoon from time to time," "several glasses of port or punch after dinner till some enlivening effect is perceived from them." Together with inordinate quantities of liquor and food, Dr. Brown recommended to his male patients the company of "delightful young women." One of the natural consequences of such an agreeable regimen was the gout, for which eighteenth century high livers took seas of liquid medicines, mountains of pills and bins of powders.

Any disease beyond diagnosis was put down as "a fever." Whether typhus or typhoid, scarlet or gastric, noncontagious or violently infectious, anything which caused a rise in temperature was sufficiently described by the term fever. Smallpox, scurvy, spotted and jail fever were maladies distinctive of the age. Disinfection and first aid to natures were never dreamed of, while the patient was dosed with horrible drafts and nauseating compounds and bled on every possible occasion. Louis XIV. was bled nine times for scarlet fever. Bleeding killed the Duchess of Tremouille and her husband. When a mob attacked the Duke of Bedford's house in 1765 the doctors remedied the outrage by bleeding the duchess next morning. A young man who fell against a marble table and cut his head open was treated by having a few pints of extra blood drawn from his veins by an expert surgeon. Blistering was esteemed next to bleeding. A fashionable remedy for consumption was a mash of raw snails, shells and all, taken from a spoon.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goober" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard roses of variagated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

Origin of the Argand Lamp and the Telescope.

Some of our most useful mechanical appliances owe their existence to the ingenuity of children in fashioning their playthings. Argand, who invented a lamp with a wick fitted into a hollow cylinder, was one day busy in his workroom. Sitting before the burning lamp, his little brother was amusing himself by placing a bottomless oil flask over different articles. Suddenly he placed it upon the flame of the lamp, which instantly shot up the long circular neck of the flask with increased brilliancy. Argand did not allow such a suggestive occurrence to escape him. The idea of the lamp chimney almost immediately came into his head, and in a short time his invention was perfected.

The telescope owes its origin to a similar occurrence. The children of a Dutch spectacle maker happened to be playing one day with some of their father's glasses in front of the shop door. Placing two of the glasses together, they peeped through them and were exceedingly astonished to see the weathercock of the neighboring steeple brought within a short distance of their eyes. They were naturally puzzled and called their father to see the strange sight. When the spectacle maker looked through the glasses he was no less surprised than the children had been. He went indoors and thought the matter over, and then the idea occurred to him that he might construct a curious new toy which would give people a good deal of amusement. Not long after the telescope was an accomplished fact.

ROYAL STRONG ARMS

Famous Monarchs That Rivaled the Mighty Samson.

AMAZING FEATS OF MUSCLE.

The Emperor Maximinus Could Lift Three Men With One Hand—Augustus the Strong of Saxony Carried a Horse and Its Rider on His Back.

Curiously enough, a large percentage of the notably strong men of history have been of royal blood. One of the earliest of these royal athletes was Maximinus, called "Maximinus Hercules" because of his great strength. He was the son of a peasant and had an enormous physique. He became a common soldier and was finally made emperor by acclaim of his fellow soldiers during a stormy period of Roman history.

Maximinus' strength was prodigious. It was said that on foot he could run down a fox, that he could lift three men with one hand and that by gripping the wheel of a chariot with one finger he could resist the pull of three horses. Like most men of great physical strength, Maximinus was a heavy eater. History records that his daily allowance was forty pounds of meat and eighteen bottles of wine.

Augustus the Strong of Saxony was another of these royal Samsons. He would often seize two of his courtiers, grasping one with his right hand and another with his left, holding them up at arm's length and playfully twirling them about.

On one occasion the horse ridden by one of his attendants became balky and refused to budge. After some minutes of coaxing the king dismounted, placed his Herculean shoulder under the horse's chest, grasping it by the fore legs, and calmly walked away with both horse and rider. This remarkable performance was witnessed by a number of courtiers and attendants.

King Richard of England ("Coeur de Lion") had tremendous strength. During his captivity in Germany he gave a terrible demonstration of his physical powers. The son of one of the wardens with a youth keenly conscious of his muscular strength and in his awkwardness invited the royal captive to an exchange of buffets. The young man fell by a chance blow from the right in the first stroke and struck the king a staggering blow on the side of the head. It was then the king's greatness he landed a blow just behind his opponent's ear so heavy that the man was instantly killed.

This incident is used in Sir Walter Scott's famous historical novel "Ivanhoe," where King Richard, the "Black Knight," and the jolly outlaw Friar Tuck have an exchange of buffets without, however, any fatal result.

Dom Pedro I., emperor of Brazil, is also on the list of royal strong men. On the occasion of a carnival he arranged matters so that he was standing on the bow of the royal barge between two of his steadiest courtiers. Suddenly in the midst of the festivities the king reached out, grasped a courtier with each hand, and, after holding them for a few moments suspended in the air and begging in lu re-quod, he released his grip and allowed them to drop plump into the water, amid the frantic applause of the huge crowd that had assembled to view their monarch. The king joined heartily in the general hilarity, but what the drenched courtiers thought about this exquisite joke is not recorded.

Peter the Great of Russia, the Charlemagne possessed great physical as well as mental power. His years of work as blacksmith and ship carpenter had so developed a naturally powerful physique that he was believed to be the strongest man in Russia.

The story is told that a certain blacksmith in a little country town had boasted that he was the only blacksmith in the world who could lift his own anvil. The emperor, hearing of the blacksmith's boast, disguised himself as a workman and with a single companion set out for the blacksmith's village. On arriving at their destination the blacksmith without a word laid aside his tools and, grasping the anvil with his brawny hands, lifted it with great effort about a foot from the floor. Then Peter took hold of the anvil, raised it a foot, two feet, three, higher and higher, till he finally swung it to his shoulder and calmly walked away with it.

Charlemagne was said to be the most powerful man physically of his time. One of his favorite feats of strength was to break the heaviest horseshoe by gripping it with one hand.

A worthy successor of Peter the Great was the late Czar Alexander III., who was one of the strongest men in the world. He was often called "the Russian Samson." The czar's regular visiting card was a Russian coin somewhat larger than our silver quarter, which he would bend almost double with his powerful fingers.

Alexander was also fond of breaking horseshoes, and it is said he never found one he could not break in two. He could take two fresh packs of cards and by gripping the ends with his hands tear them straight down through the middle.

It is said that on one occasion a woman companion expressed a wish for a bouquet holder in which to place a large bunch of roses. The czar took a pewter tankard from a table nearby and with a few mighty squeezes of his powerful hands fashioned it into a rough but picturesque and quite efficient bouquet holder.—W. R. C. Latson in New York Tribune.

ROYAL STRONG ARMS

Famous Monarchs That Rivaled the Mighty Samson.

AMAZING FEATS OF MUSCLE.

The Emperor Maximianus Could Lift Three Men With One Hand—Augustus the Strong of Saxony Carried a Horse and Its Rider on His Back.

Curiously enough, a large percentage of the notably strong men of history have been of royal blood. One of the earliest of these royal athletes was Maximianus, called "Maximianus Herculeus" because of his great strength. He was the son of a peasant and had an enormous physique. He became a common soldier and was finally made emperor by acclaim of his fellow soldiers during a stormy period of Roman history.

Maximianus' strength was prodigious. It was said that on foot he could run down a fox, that he could lift three men with one hand and that by gripping the wheel of a chariot with one finger he could resist the pull of three horses. Like most men of great physical strength, Maximianus was a heavy eater. History records that his daily allowance was forty pounds of meat and eighteen bottles of wine.

Augustus the Strong of Saxony was another of these royal Samsons. He would often seize two of his courtiers, grasping one with his right hand and another with his left, holding them up at arm's length and playfully twirling them about.

On one occasion the horse ridden by one of his attendants became balky and refused to budge. After some minutes of coaxing the king dismounted, placed his Herculean shoulder under the horse's chest, grasping it by the fore legs, and calmly walked away with both horse and rider. This remarkable performance was witnessed by a number of courtiers and attendants.

King Richard of England ("Coeur de Lion") had tremendous strength. During his captivity in Germany he gave a terrible demonstration of his physical powers. The son of one of the wardens was a youth locally renowned for his muscular strength and in his assurance invited the royal captive to an exchange of buffets. The young man by a cast of the dice won the right to the first stroke and struck the king a staggering blow on the side of the head. It was then the king's turn, and he landed a blow just behind his opponent's ear so heavy that the man was instantly killed.

This incident is used in Sir Walter Scott's famous historical novel "Ivanhoe," where King Richard, the "Black Knight," and the jolly outlaw Friar Tuck have an exchange of buffets, without, however, any fatal result.

Dom Pedro I., emperor of Brazil, is also on the list of royal strong men. On the occasion of a carnival he arranged matters so that he was standing on the bow of the royal barge between two of his stateliest courtiers. Suddenly in the midst of the festivities the king reached out, grasped a courtier with each hand, and, after holding them for a few moments squirming in the air and begging to be released, he relaxed his grip and allowed them to drop plump into the water, amid the frantic applause of the huge crowd that had assembled to view their monarch. The king joined heartily in the general hilarity, but what the drenched courtiers thought about this exquisite joke is not recorded.

Peter the Great of Russia, like Charlemagne possessed great physical as well as mental power. His years of work as blacksmith and ship carpenter had so developed a naturally powerful physique that he was believed to be the strongest man in Russia.

The story is told that a certain blacksmith in a little country town had boasted that he was the only blacksmith in the world who could lift his own anvil. The emperor, hearing of the blacksmith's boast, disguised himself as a workman and with a single companion set out for the blacksmith's village. On learning of their errand the blacksmith without a word laid aside his tools and, grasping the anvil with his brawny hands, lifted it with great effort about a foot from the floor. Then Peter took hold of the anvil, raised it a foot, two feet, three, higher and higher, till he finally swung it to his shoulder and calmly walked away with it.

Charlemagne was said to be the most powerful man physically of his time. One of his favorite feats of strength was to break the heaviest horseshoe by gripping it with one hand.

A worthy successor of Peter the Great was the late Czar Alexander III., who was one of the strongest men in the world. He was often called "the Russian Samson." The czar's regular visiting card was a Russian coin somewhat larger than our silver quarter, which he would bend almost double with his powerful fingers.

Alexander was also fond of breaking horseshoes, and it is said he never found one he could not break in two. He could take two fresh packs of cards and by gripping the ends with his hands tear them straight down through the middle.

It is said that on one occasion a woman companion expressed a wish for a bouquet holder in which to place a large bunch of roses. The czar took a pewter tankard from a table nearby and with a few movements of his powerful hands fashioned it into a rough but picturesque and quite efficient bouquet holder.—W. R. C. Latson in New York Tribune.

He Walked.

"Good afternoon, Miss Brown! Going for a walk? May I go with you?" asked an elderly but ardent admirer of the lady.

"Yes; my doctor says that we must always walk with an object, and I suppose you'll answer the purpose!"

The Exporter.

"Who is your Chicago friend?"

"He is a prominent ex-porter."

"What does he export?"

"I didn't say he exported anything. He used to be a porter at the hotel where I stopped."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Way They Have.

"Some men," said Uncle Eben, "has a way of keepin' der consciences quiet by takin' de minister's advice on Sunday an' de lawyer's advice all de res' o' de week."—Washington Star.
